Dr. Wicka To Hold Skin Cancer Clinic

As part of Elba General Hospital's ongoing community involvement, Dr. Stanley Wicka will conduct skin cancer examinations on Saturday, June 30, from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. at the EGH emergency room. The examinations will be free of charge, and made in addition to EGH's regular quarterly medical giveaway. (For this quarter that service will be blood pressure screening.)

Dr. Wicka says that certain groups of people are more susceptible to skin cancer than others, these being people who spend a large amount of time out of doors in the sun. "Of course," he says, "skin cancer can develop in any individual, but those who do spend most of their time in the sun should pay particular attention to distressful skin areas."

WHAT IS SKIN CANCER?
Briefly, skin cancer is the growth of cancer cells within the skin cells themselves. Many forms of what is called "skin cancer" are, in fact, not dangerous and can be resolved quickly by simply removing the lesion (distressful area or growth). As a general rule, skin cancer is slow-spreading, and if caught in the early stages may never spread to any other part of the body. However, if examination and detection are left too long, skin cancer, like any other form of cancer, can spread throughout the body, resulting in the most serious of health hazards.

Dr. Wicka is donating his time to perform these examinations in what he calls an effort on his part to provide a community service. He advised that one of the major reasons for having the examinations is to reassure area residents about non-cancerous growths which may have been bothering them. "These examinations should prompt people to check out a possible problem they have intended to get checked, but just haven't gotten around to doing so," he stated.

Dr. Wicka will examine all lesions (distressful areas or growths) presented for indications of skin cancer and advise each individual of his findings. Anyone may take advantage of this offer by EGH.

MRS. HATTIE BASS of Teresa Street, Elba, displays a pod of okra growing on her running okra vine. She did not pull it, "because I wanted to see just how big it would get. The pod weighs two pounds and measures 19 inches in length. She has gathered other (smaller) pods and cooked them, even putting some in the freezer. "One pod will fill a pint bag - by packing it down," she said, "and it's really good. Tastes just like any other okra." Her mother-in-law, Grace Bass of Rutledge, gave her the seeds last year but she did not plant them until this year. Mrs. Bass fertilized her okra and other garden vegetables with bought cow manure.

TREE COVERS SKIDDER - A fallen tree covers the skidder that was being operated by a local logger. The tree hit the logger and pinned him near the machine.

Logger Escapes Serious Injury After Being Pinned By Falling Tree

A Troy logger was lucky to escape with only minor injuries last week after being struck by a falling tree at a work site 11 miles north of Elba.

The logger, identified as Stan Bolling, was operating a skidder at the site and was getting off the machine to hook-up cut trees when he saw a large tree falling near the skidder. He jumped to avoid the tree, but was struck and pinned under the fallen tree. The Elba Rescue Squad was called to the scene, located one-mile down a logging trail, and found Bolling still covered with limbs. The victim was carefully placed on a stretcher, for fear of serious back injuries, and transported to the Elba General Hospital. Bolling was admitted to the hospital in satisfactory condition with a slight compression fracture of the thoracic vertebrae, as well as numerous bruises to the chest, back, head and left arm.

Russell Cash Promoted At Dorsey Trailers

Recently Roy Belcer, vice president of Engineering for Dorsey Trailers, Inc., announced the appointment of Russell Cash to the newly-created position of Chief Corporate Engineer.

Cash has been with Dorsey's Engineering Division for more than 23 years. At the time of this appointment, he held the title of Senior Engineer for Dorsey's Research and Development Division headquartered in Elba, AL.

His new position as Chief Corporate Engineer will enable Cash to utilize his quarter-century of trailer engineering experience on special assignments such as assisting with the engineering design of production equipment and plant layout, and the supervision of production lines. In addition, Cash will provide sales engineering assistance to the Dorsey Sales Department and also will continue to furnish design input for the corporate Research and Development Division.

During his long career with Dorsey Trailers, Cash has been instrumental in the engineering and proving of many successful commercial trailer designs that have made Dorsey an industry leader in product quality and toughness. Cash also was intimately involved in the design and production of equipment for handling and firing the original Redstone missile. More recently, he has become a leading industry expert in the engineering design, testing and proving of piggyback equipment and chassis for marine-type containers. Cash is an engineering graduate of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, now Auburn University.

Inman Is Candidate For Place 3 On Elba City Council

Sonny Inman is a candidate for re-election to Place 3 on the Elba City Council.

Sonny is a graduate of Auburn University with a degree in Psychology and is a graduate Licensed Practical Nurse from MacArthur Technical College. He served as a paratrooper and in the Green Beret during World War II and Korean War. After military service he was employed with Department of the Army at Fort Rucker for 25 years, where he was a personnel specialist and director of civilian training while employed. After retirement from Civil Service he was employed by the Elba General Hospital prior to attending nursing school. He is presently employed by the Nursing Department at MacArthur Technical College as a clinical instructor.

Inman lists as one of his major accomplishments prior to becoming a city councilman, the organization and building of the Elba Country Club. He states that while serving on the City Council these past four years he has been instrumental in building the new Recreation complex, paving of streets in Elba, purchasing the police department building, promoting the fire department, causing the fire insurance to decrease, and aiding in bringing the school system to its present level.

Inman says there is much more to be done in Elba, and he feels the city council needs sound, progressive, honest people, and he feels he can continue to move Elba forward. He is married to the former Emma Margaret Cooper and they have four grown children.

Complex Is Under Construction In Elba

Construction of a new 20-unit apartment complex is underway in Elba and tentative plans set September 1 as the opening date. The apartments, being constructed by Huff and Associates of Auburn, are located on Caroline Street and are to be low-to-middle income dwellings. Though actual rent will be based on income, the minimum monthly rent is $185, making it more accessible to moderate income families. The apartments are not HUD subsidized. Though the apartments will include two-story buildings, all units will be one-story and will include ten one-bedroom and ten two-bedroom units. The apartments will be carpeted, will include kitchen appliances and a storage area. A washateria will be housed in the facility housing the manager's office.

Elba Reserve Unit To Train At Ft. Campbell

One hundred ninety first Maint. Co., Elba, AL takes off for training, July 7, 1984. More than 80 citizens of Elba, AL will shed civilian togs for Army green on July 7, 1984 for two weeks of annual training, as the 191st Maint. Co. heads for Fort Campbell in Kentucky.

"This is a critical time of the year for us," said CPT Roderick Reynolds commander of the unit. We prepare all year for the chance to 'show our stuff' and work hand-in-hand with Active Army units. CPT Reynolds pointed out that the 191st's Maint. Co. mission, in a mobilization, would be to provide maintenance support on mission material for combat units. While in training, this year, the unit is to sharpen its ability to perform that mission by General Support Maintenance for the 801st Maint. Bn. at Fort Campbell, KY, as well as putting its members through refresher training in basic soldering skills, such as weapons, firing, land navigation and first aid.

Members of the unit, like most of the other 250,000 Army Reserve unit members nationwide, devote about 24 days of their year to training. The members meet one weekend each month, in addition to the units two week annual training period. Annual training is normally the most intensive training the unit receives, working on an active Army post, and working with and being tested by active Army counterparts.

In a mobilization, we'd have a very short amount of time to gather and get to the action," said CPT Reynolds "and Annual Training tests our abilities to do just that." CPT Reynolds also said that the unit owes a special debt to its families and employers of its members. Support from home and work place are two of the most critical factors determining a Reservist decision to stay in uniform.

The Army Reserve was founded in 1908 as a small pool of physicians needed to support the Army Medical Department in a major military operation. It swiftly grew, and provided hundreds of thousands of officers and enlisted members to the Army in all major military actions since World War I.

Brainstorms.....

With Ferrin Cox

Politics and political candidates are the topic of many coffee-shop conversations this time of the year. Even though most of us classify the season as "quiet" politics is still going on in some corners. The municipalities of our county are all holding elections next Tuesday, and we offer a special salute to the candidates in these races. The salute is double-faced. First, we salute those who give up their personal time to serve our country and have as their only reward the satisfaction of doing so. Second, we salute those who offer themselves as serious candidates. It takes a lot of humility to face the voters and know they may consider you a friend, nice person, etc., but vote in favor of someone else for the particular position you have offered to serve in. The fact that they are serious candidates puts them in a group of folks better than this writer who doesn't want to make the sacrifice necessary to serve and is afraid to count friends in public. We offer our heartfelt thanks to ALL who choose to seek public office.

We can't leave politics without noting that the men of tiny Liechtenstein, in southern Europe, have voted to allow women to vote in national elections -- national elections, mind you, not local elections! The country of 26,000 may give women additional rights if they behave themselves for the next couple hundred years. This picturesque little country, seventeen miles long, between Switzerland and Austria, is bordered on the west by a major river and a railroad line also runs along the river valley. However, the train rarely stops in Liechtenstein. Their main export commodity is beautiful stamps, usually art reproductions, that are loved by stamp collectors.

We are printing the paper early this week, because our printer is closing down for the Fourth of July holiday. Not fully knowing how to enjoy a vacation because of so little practice, I have made a resolution not to work any tomorrow (Wednesday) and hope to keep it. If it ain't raining I plan to fish early in the morning (not just talk about it), eat whatever I want and then fish some more in the late afternoon. If any of that gets too hard, I will cut down on parts of it... at least for one day.

The Montgomery Advertiser printed a nice feature on Johnny Martin Sunday in the sports section. We salute them for the story but more importantly we salute Johnny for his determination and desire.

Another note about the Montgomery paper... Elba's own Gerrienne Plant is now working for the Advertiser as a reporter. We don't see much of her work in Elba because she covers many stories only printed in the city edition. Gerrienne was one of those rare journalists who get special praise not indicated on grade reports. Professors and those who had watched her intern classified this young lady as a rare find, and one which newspaper would be lucky to have on staff. We are expecting great things from her in the years to come.

We often anguish over happenings in our city and county government meetings but never in our wildest dreams have we had anything near what we read happened in Vernon, Florida recently. It seems that a disagreement had led to the disbanding of the one-man police department. At the next meeting a group appeared with a petition protesting the action. When this meeting got out of hand the meeting was adjourned. From there the details vary, but a fight followed, with the mayor, her husband and son all reportedly involved. The whole event was recorded by newspapers and two TV stations while one citizen suffered cuts in the face attributed by one newspaper writer to the mayor's husband, who has only one hand and a "hook in place of the other." They reported the son held the man while his dad "worked on the man with his hook". Charges and counter-charges have been filed with the sheriff's department, and several members resigned. The paper's account said sheriff's deputies arrived several minutes later "and surveyed the blood-spattered room". Now that is taking your politics seriously.

Walter Mondale has created - or allowed to become a reality - the fact that he must select a woman for his vice presidential running mate. He has played politics with women and minorities to the point he can't turn back even if he wants to do so. We expect to see a woman veep on the Democratic ticket in November. It doesn't matter to us either way, 'cause we are going to vote for Ronnie anyway. We just don't see Mondale as presidential material, with or without a veep.

Ronald Reagan is expected to be in Decatur, Alabama, for a Fourth of July celebration entitled "Spirit of America" Festival. An amusing thing is that the celebration this year is in honor of the late Barrett Sheldon Sr., one of the hard-line Democrats - in fact one of the hardest hard-line Democrats. He was publisher of the Decatur paper for many years and died last year of cancer. We asked his granddaughter Monday if she thought her beloved grandfather would approve of the visit. Her comments included some thoughts we shared, which are that that cemetery will vibrate over the thought of a Republican in the town Sheldon loved so dearly.

The feds have dropped the ax on those under 21 who want to buy beer and whiskey. The states will surely follow suit right away. This will surely save a few lives each year... more if it could be enforced; but it will not stop us from being killed by the drunk who is over 21. He can't drive any better than the drunk teenager.

Tradition Revived

BY: TERRY WILHITE

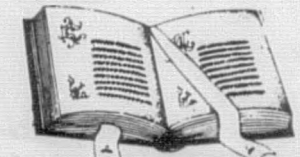

All night gospel sings — they are as much a part of southern tradition as red, ripe, juicy watermelon on a scorching July afternoon and dinner on the ground at homecoming; a part of a tradition that is alive and well. And the tradition will be brought back July 13 at the Andalusia High School football stadium where a well known Andalusia quartet joins three nationally acclaimed groups in filling the night time air with "foot stompin', hand clappin'" gospel music.

The Florida Boys are totally devoted to presenting to their fans good wholesome family entertainment. The Oldtimers Quartet — a unique name for a unique group. The Oldtimers have melded to join the right blend for their calling which is to present gospel in song whenever and wherever the opportunity presents itself. Blending rich melodies with unique arrangements resulting in perfect harmony has been a trademark of the world famous Chuck Wagon Gang for more than forty-five years. The Chuck Wagon Gang currently records both country and gospel music.

And then there is the Dixie Melody Boys, a self-combined group made up of four singers and a five piece band; they have recorded twenty-three albums in the past two decades. Tickets are $5.00 in advance and $7.50 at the gate. Children under six will be admitted free. Tickets can be purchased at specified merchants or by calling 222-1144. Sing begins at 8 p.m.

IN HIM WAS LIFE AND THE LIFE WAS THE LIGHT OF MEN.

THE ELBA MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION meets each Thursday at 8 a.m. at Hilly's Restaurant.

Know The Truth

Jesus said, "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall set you free."

We are constantly talking about freedom and how to attain it on a personal level as well as a nation. The children of Israel found peace when they obeyed the truth of God that Moses shared with them. It was when they disobeyed the truth that they found themselves in deeper bondage.

The process for freedom hasn't changed even to this day. We will still find the freedom we are looking for only when we seek out the truth and abide by that which will benefit us and discard that which would hurt us.

We will retain our personal freedom and national freedom only by seeking out the truth. We hold a precious truth that gives us a freedom in America that many other countries do not have and enjoy. Our Constitution states a truth that has helped us retain our freedom in America and will help us continue to retain our freedom if we would accept it and abide by it. The Constitution states: "We hold these truths to be self-evident that all men are created equal." If we would respect God, seek out His truth and abide by that which will benefit us and discard that which would hurt us, we shall never die. Believe that this is true. Believe that you are the Son of God, which should come into the world.

Bill Daughtry Raises Sheep In Coffee County

BY: FAYE HOLIDAY

Bill Daughtry is owner of the Elba Florist and Gift Shop, and Elba Hardware and Garden Supplies - he is not a shepherd; however, he does own a few head of sheep.

"I got them just for the novelty of it," Bill said. He started raising the woolly animals some eight or ten years ago when he purchased eight from a Mr. Segars below Bonifay, Florida.

"I enjoy having them," Bill said, "and they do keep the undergrowth down, especially around the pond." "Mr. Segars had a flock of 400, breeding out about a dozen a year for the mutton. He had an ulcer and said it was good for that." Segars also marketed his wool.

Bill is not into the wool market; "I just don't have time to spend on that aspect of it." The wool would have to be shipped by truck to Memphis, Tennessee, the nearest market. "One grown sheep will average around 25 pounds of wool," Bill said, "and the wool brings around $1.00 per pound." It is rolled into bales for shipping.

The sheep on the 280-acre Daughtry place in the Chestnut Grove Community co-habit the pasture with the cattle - with no conflict, since there is not enough of them to threaten the grass supply as in earlier days of our country's history. In the shepherd-cattlemen (cuds. Sheep bite the grass much closer to the ground, leaving nothing. However, in the grassless winter months, Bill feeds them a little hay and grain. "There is not much expense to them," he said, "and they're not a lot of trouble. They'll stay in any kind of fence."

Unfortunately not "any kind of fence" will keep out stray dogs, and Bill has lost 18-20 out of his top number of 37 - mostly to dogs. In one night ravaging dogs killed 17; another night a ewe and five lambs were destroyed; and on the night before the day of this interview, visiting dogs had chased a helpless ram into the pond, and the bloated white carcass bobbed lifeless at the edge of the water. "He ran into the water to escape, and his wool just weighed him down," Bill explained. He further stated that the dogs do not eat their prey - they just kill and leave them lying.

Sheep being docile animals, "won't defend themselves," said Bill, "and so are easy prey to marauding animals. And they seem to pick out the females more," thereby diminishing his flock - only three or four ewes are left.

"They will fight each other though," said Bill, "especially at mating time. They will back up a few feet and proceed straight ahead at full steam, ramming each other headon. The result is a loud crack!"

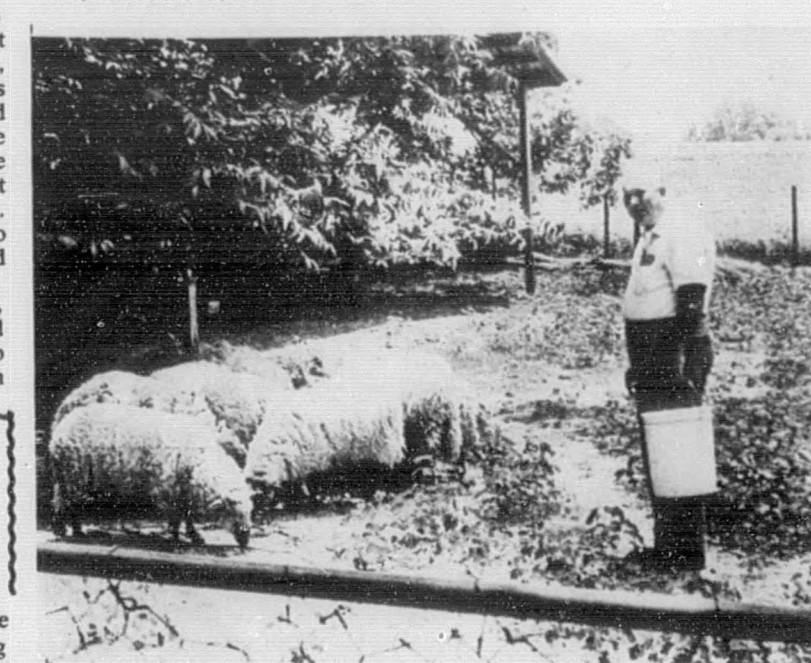

Lightning also claimed several of the animals one night recently, as they huddled near the fence in a thunderstorm.

Only one of the rams has horns. Bill does not know the variety of his sheep, but he pointed out one of the white ones that when he sheds his wool, will be a beautiful brown color.

Some are black when born but will turn brown, and a ewe may have twins of one each white and black. Twins are not uncommon in the sheep family.

Recently one ram decided he liked the cows better than his own kind, and took up residence with them. "I got rid of him," said Bill. He does not shear the sheep, and they lose the year's accumulation of wool little by little, as it is replaced by new growth.

Other sheep in the county that are known about are owned by Charles Jackson and Jesse Clements; Clements' came from Bill's stock.

FISHING

Dr. John Jensen, Auburn's fisheries specialist, is very enthusiastic about improving farm ponds in Coffee County. This county has several hundred ponds which are stocked with bass and bream. Some ponds provide good fishing. Others have gone bad.

Jensen told me that a fertilized pond should produce 300 pounds of bass and bream a year. This would be about 60-75 pounds of bass and 275 pounds of bream. Unfertilized ponds will produce about 25 pounds of bass and about 75 pounds of bream.

Jensen emphasized that farm ponds need to be soil tested for lime needs the same as a pasture or a field of peanuts. If a pond has a low pH, the water won't respond to the fertilizer. We have soil testing supplies at the office and at agricultural firms in the county.

SOYBEAN REFERENDUM

Coffee County soybean producers are encouraged to vote or a promotion referendum to be held Tuesday, July 31. The referendum provides for continuing a small donation per bushel of beans. These funds are used to expand export markets, conduct research in varieties, diseases, and other problems associated with soybeans. In addition, part of the funds are used to develop uses for soybeans.

Farmers' offices in Enterprise and Elba are the official polling places. They will be open from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Tuesday, July 31. If you are growing soybeans, take advantage of this opportunity to promote your crop.

JULY 10

C.C. Martin vocational agribusiness instructor at Enterprise High School, plans to attend the No-till Meeting at Headland July 10. He will be driving a nice van. Farmers who want to ride to Headland in super comfort can meet Martin in front of the Enterprise High School at 8:00 a.m. July 10. Be sure to call him first.

LEAFSPOT

Conditions for the development of leafspot are becoming more favorable with each passing day. The temperature is getting warm and more humidity is in the air. The warm temperature plus the dew accumulation is enough to cause leafspot disease.

Maintain your 14-day schedule. One of the biggest causes of outbreak of leafspot is caused by waiting too long between spray intervals.

SOYBEAN RECOMMENDATIONS

Dr. John Henderson, soybean specialist, told me the following in a phone conversation: "I discourage farmers planting soybeans unless there is adequate moisture for germination and emergence of the plants. In area where moisture is sufficient to germinate the seed and get the plants up, there is still ample time to plant soybeans. We suggest that you plant late maturing varieties such as maturity groups 7 and 8. For late maturing varieties, we encourage planting in narrow rows. As far as a cut off date or when to stop planting, it is difficult to say because much has to do with weather conditions. It is my general opinion that July 10 is about as late as we dare risk soybeans to be planted in this area."

Education Means Lots To Coffee County

Native, James Orell King

[From an article by Barbara Hickey in the University of Kentucky Communi-K of September 19, 1983.]

An Elba native who was named vice president for administration at the University of Kentucky in the latter part of 1983, said "walking behind mule" in his days on the farm gave him an appreciation for education.

James Orell King, son of Mrs. Vonnie King of Elba and the late R.A. King, feels very strongly about the role of education in the future of the state in which he now makes his home. "I feel education is vital to Kentucky's future. UK is an excellent university and is absolutely necessary for the economic growth of the state."

King, who was brought up on a tenant farm, said "I can see what education has done for me. Walking behind a mule in the field from dawn to dusk gave me a special appreciation for education. Those days on the farm also gave me a deep commitment to the importance of education in improving one's standards of living and quality of life."

A 1949 graduate of Elba High School, King holds bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Alabama. He first went to UK as a student in the Southern Regional Training Program in Public Administration. Through his association with one of his professors, James W. Martin (who was by then retired from the University and was state finance commissioner), King joined the staff of the state budget office.

His ensuing governmental positions included administrative assistant to U.S. Sen. Wendell Ford in Washington; Kentucky's finance commissioner; secretary of the governor's cabinet under two Kentucky governors; and secretary of the cabinet for the mayor of Louisville.

His early career at UK included teaching part-time and such administrative positions as director of auxiliary services, assistant business manager, business manager, coordinator of the physical plant, director of management information and analysis, and special assistant to the president.

"The University is a great environment in which to work," King said. "I feel I am making a contribution to the state and I also have tremendous respect for President Singletary and the job he has done."

The new vice president for administration likes to relax by growing fruit trees, playing golf and woodworking. He has seven children: one daughter lives in Louisiana, another in North Carolina, and one attends the University of Louisville. A son and another daughter live in the Blue-grass area, and he and his wife Geraldine have two children at home.

King's brother Paul, and a sister, Helen Kemp, who has recently moved back, live in Elba, as well as his mother.

TO THE PEOPLE OF ELBA

I have made every effort possible to see each one of you, but the campaign time is too short, or else I have not used the time properly.

I want to be your next mayor, having served years on the council and years as your mayor. I know the needs of the people.

The City of Elba at the present time is at a standstill, as far as new business, industry and jobs are concerned. I promise to make every effort and turn every stone to bring business, industry and more jobs to Elba. With the help of all the people, we can do something good.

The people in city government who serve on the natural gas board voted to raise gas prices in order for the city to get $20,000 a year in place of $9,000. Should I be elected mayor, I will strive and do my best to reduce gas and electric rates in Elba.

If I have failed to see and talk to you, please take this as my humble request for you to vote for me as mayor. You will not regret it.

SPORTS

VIEWS FROM

THE PRESSBOX

BY RICKY MULARZ, EDITOR

The coaches in Babe Ruth, Dixie Youth and Girls Softball selected their All-Star teams recently and even though the teams are strong, deserving players got left off every team. There is no sure-fire way to pick an All-Star team, so I won't challenge the way they were chosen. However, I'd like to tell all the kids who weren't picked to keep working -- you'll get your chance.

The Dixie Youth League enjoyed one of its best seasons in years, and the players looked good both pitching and hitting. Tim Sullivan, Chris Thomas, Kevin Matthews, Kenneth King and Audie Fudge all pitched well (and hit well); and Wade Hart, Derrick Hooks and Bill Bennett all gave the crowd something to see with long home-runs. Yep, Dixie Youth had something for everyone.

Up in Babe Ruth it was a "Reds" year, as the Reds rolled to the pennant. The Reds had a proven pitcher in Stan Sauls and solid hitters in Scott Brown, Troy Hudson, Troy Sanders and Gappa Wise, and made winning look easy. The Babe Ruth League wasn't blessed with a large number of players, but they all gave it all they had and had a good season.

The Girls Softball League enjoyed a banner year with four teams and plenty of good players. I didn't get to see the girls play but a couple of times; however, they looked as good as any girls teams have looked in years. Opps, I almost forgot Minor League, which is by far our biggest youth league, with six teams and over 100 players. These kids work as hard as anybody and really put on a show. This league could be the best in town.

Kinston Bulldog football team and cheerleaders went out to the Coffee County Lake last Saturday to fish and picnic, and you know I had to go out and make sure things went smoothly. The players and cheerleaders (as well as coaches and parents) had a great time and I guess now it's time to get ready for football. The outing was a good way to kickoff the season!

The new tennis courts are now open for night use only and everyone is urged to please follow the rules. The surface of the courts is still a little soft and the hot sun will keep it that way until it's packed down; so for a couple of weeks, it'll be open only at night. Also, all players "must" wear smooth-sole shoes, so the surface won't be damaged. Shoes with cleats and shoes not made for tennis will dig in the surface and all but ruin it. C'mon folks, we've got some of the nicest courts in the state -- let's keep 'em that way!

The Mets claimed an exciting 2-1 win over the Pirates last week to win the 1984 Dixie Youth League baseball crown. The Pirates had runners on second and third in the sixth-inning with two-outs, but failed to score and gave the Mets a chance to win it. Phil Boggan doubled to lead off the Mets rally, then raced home with the winning run when Tim Sullivan's grounder was mishandled.

Miss Falisha Robinson displays gifts she received at miscellaneous bridal shower given Saturday, June 27, at home of Mrs. Marion White.

Last week was very busy for me. I attended the Sunday School convention in Enterprise from Wednesday night to Saturday night. I attended a shower and a 50th wedding anniversary - and I enjoyed each event!

Miss Falisha Robinson, bride-elect of Mr. Abdel Bilal, was honored with a miscellaneous shower Saturday, June 30, at the home of Mrs. Marion White. (See social page for details.)

The 50th wedding anniversary celebration of Fred and Eunice Culver was a very special event. There was lots of love shown and expressed throughout the program. I don't think there's a person in Elba who doesn't know and love Fred and Eunice. They are my great uncle and aunt, and I, like so many others, love them dearly. I wish them another 50 years together!

I hope by now everyone has listened to the Danny B. Show. The man is good! Believe it or not, he's gone Country and Western Monday - Friday, 6 p.m. - 7:45 p.m., and Rhythm and Blues Saturdays from 5 to 7:45 p.m. If you haven't heard him, tune in to the Danny Belcher Show on WELB - 1350 AM on your radio.

Mr. Patrick Reynolds was taken back to Mizell Memorial Hospital in Opp Saturday. Let's send out special prayers for him and his family. God holds the answers to our prayers.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

It is not enough to give charity. It is our duty to do our share to see to it that we build a society where charity will not be necessary, a society where no sick person will go unattended, no hungry person will go unfed, no one will be poorly housed, no able-bodied person will go without adequate employment, and good schools will be provided for all.

—Dr. Benjamin Mays

SCRIPTURE FOR THE WEEK:

Rejoice, O young man, in thy youth; and let thy heart cheer thee in the days of thy youth, and walk in the ways of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes; but know thou, that for all these things God will bring thee into judgment. - Ecclesiastes 11:9.

EXERCISE FOR THE WEEK:

Let's walk again every day this week. It is very important to exercise. Your health depends on it. My topic for the week will explain my reasons for exercising regularly.

TOPIC FOR THE WEEK: Physical Fitness

Physical fitness is a combination of qualities that enable a person to perform well in vigorous physical activities. These qualities include agility, endurance, flexibility and strength. Physical fitness and good health are not the same, though each influences the other.

Healthy people may be physically unfit because they do not exercise regularly. Physically fit people perform the tasks they usually task easily without tiring and still have energy for other interests.

Better physical performance is only one benefit of physical fitness. Regular vigorous exercise also increases the efficiency and capacity of the heart and lungs and helps people maintain their proper weight. Individuals who are physically fit tend to be slenderer and look better than those who are physically unfit.

A person's physical fitness is determined by such factors as his or her age, heredity and behavior. Although people cannot control their age or heredity, their behavior can help them become physically fit and stay that way. Individuals vary greatly in their capacity for physical fitness, but almost everyone can improve by exercising regularly.

Bob English Wins Re-Election As Mayor Of Elba

Voter turnout in Elba last Tuesday was light, with only 1083 citizens even bothering to cast a ballot.

Incumbent mayor Bob English was returned to office for a second term. He received a vote of 804 over former mayor Bob Folsom's vote of 258.

Elba Postmaster Protests Plans To Change Traffic Flow

The Elba City Council met Monday night with all members present. The agenda was light with reports, resolutions and bill payment dominating the meeting.

Postmaster Bill Bullard was the only visitor to the meeting and he was present to protest the changing of direction of traffic flow on Yelverton, which fronts on the Elba post office.

Bullard urged the council to reconsider their action, noting it could cause some more serious problems if changed. He expressed concern that it would take a police officer on the scene during the rush hours of 8-9 in the morning and 4-5 in the afternoon, just to control traffic flow. He explained that if three cars were waiting to get into the traffic on Highway 84, no car could park at, or leave, the post office.

According to Bullard, during the 30-minute period of 9:25 - 9:55 a traffic count indicated 90 vehicles coming into town from the direction of New Brockton, 141 coming from the direction of the square on 84, and 66 turning in on Yelverton in front of the post office. He expressed concern if these 66 tried to turn into 84 during this less-than-peak traffic period.

Mayor Bob English suggested a committee be appointed to study the matter, and all council members agreed it was a good idea. He appointed Mrs. Frances Trammell and asked her to get two other council members to work with her, the police chief and others to make a recommendation to the council on the matter. Until further action is taken, Chief John White was instructed to leave the traffic flow as it has been in the past. The report is expected at the first meeting in August.

The council approved a resolution asking for connector-road access to the hospital for the convenience of the rescue squad and others turning from this new road to the hospital.

The council agreed to a request that the drive-in building on the proposed fire station site be given to the cemetery committee. This was approved with an understanding there would be no cost to the city.

The council paid bills totaling $23,819.44. Chief White reported the city would begin getting some monies from bad check cases filed in the district court, and Councilman Hawkins reported the cable TV change-over was progressing, and that after all old subscribers had been cut over to the new cable, the new channels would be turned on and new customers hooked up.

Rep. Jimmy Holley Accepts Position At Troy State

Jimmy Holley of Elba has accepted the position of associate director of the Center for Developmental Education at Troy State University, as announced by Dr. Ralph W. Adams, president of TSU.

Holley, who holds the Master of Education in school administration from East Tennessee State University, held several positions in the Coffee County and Elba City School systems from 1968 to 1975, including the principalship of New Brockton High School in 1974-75. He has been involved in business and banking in Coffee County since 1975.

Holley will be assisting in the administration and development of the Center for Developmental Education. The Center's primary responsibility is to assist elementary and secondary schools in their efforts to meet the needs of students inadequately prepared to pursue a secondary and post-secondary education. Its activities concentrate primarily in the areas of math, science, writing and reading.

"We are pleased to have Mr. Holley join our Center's staff," Dr. Adams stated. "He brings with him educational and business experience as well as a working knowledge of our state's educational system and personnel."

Place Three was sought by four candidates, and incumbent Sonny Inman led the field with 383 votes. He was followed closely by Mrs. Gladys Yelverton with 353 votes - only 30 votes behind Inman. The heavy vote of the other two candidates forced this race into the only runoff, with Jackie Farmer getting 276 votes and Foyle Guy polling 48 votes. Place Four saw Frances Trammell win as the first elected woman on the Elba City Council. She was serving in the slot on an appointed basis, prior to the election. She defeated L.M. Burch by a vote of 711 to 298.

In Place Two and in Place Five the incumbents - Cleo Hawkins and John W. Sharpless - were unopposed for re-election.

The runoff election is set for July 31.

Driskell Upends Incumbent Mayor In New Brockton

There will be some new faces around city hall in New Brockton, as incumbent mayor L.A. Adkinson was defeated by James Driskell, and Councilman O.L. Hornsby defeated by Robert Miles. Driskell got 244 votes and Adkinson got 208. Miles received 227 and Hornsby 192.

The citizens of Kinston went to the polls on Tuesday and elected a new mayor and five new councilmen in one of the area's most hotly contested races.

There was no incumbent in the Place 5 race, but Gibby McCormick got exactly half the votes. He lacked the one additional vote necessary to make him two-thirds winner, and apparently will face a runoff with B.M. Bowdoin. McCormick received 220 votes, Bowdoin 147 and Doug Maddox 73.

Following are the complete results -- top five elected: Route Turner - 179; Kenneth Martin - 167; Thomas M. Weeks - 148; L.C. White - 136; Willie J. Phillips - 122; Houston Martin - 101; and Dan M. Wilkerson - 61.

Davis To Seek District 3 Seat On County Commission

Malcom Davis, a lifelong resident of Coffee County, announced last week that he had qualified to seek the office of county commissioner from District 3.

Davis, who has been associated with the Fiba Tractor Company for 21 years, is a native of rural Coffee County and now lives in Elba.

"I want to serve all the people of Coffee County," said Davis in making his announcement. "I have traveled throughout the county for the past 21 years and know the people and their needs. I will work for everyone - not just those who speak the loudest! I have always done what I said I would do, and if elected I will continue to work for the needs of the people."

"I am running against some mighty good men," Davis said, "but I sincerely ask the people to elect me."

Rural County Man Arrested For Burglary Of Home

An 18-year old Coffee County man was arrested recently and placed in the Coffee County Jail on a charge of burglary-third degree.

The man, identified as Horace Walter White Newsome, is being held in connection with the burglary of the home of Mrs. Lillian Marie Horstead, located on County Road 6.

According to Coffee County Sheriff's Dept. Deputy Billy Wayne McKinnon, the department got a call on Saturday, June 30, that a car was parked in the road on County Road 6, near the Holley's Store community.

Deputy McKinnon and Elba Police Officer Buddy Ammons answered the call and found Newsome passed out in the front seat of a 1973 Chevrolet Impala, which was blocking a lane of traffic on the rural county road. The officers found a television set, a fan, record player and stereo in the back seat area, as well as various frozen foods. A repair sticker on the TV led to the owner of the set, who stated he had given the set away. This led the officers to believe the merchandise was not stolen.

On Sunday night, July 1, Mrs. Lillian Mae Horstead came to the jail to report her home had been burglarized. The home was located approximately 300-yards from where the car was found in the road and the items reported missing were identical to those seen in Newsome's car.

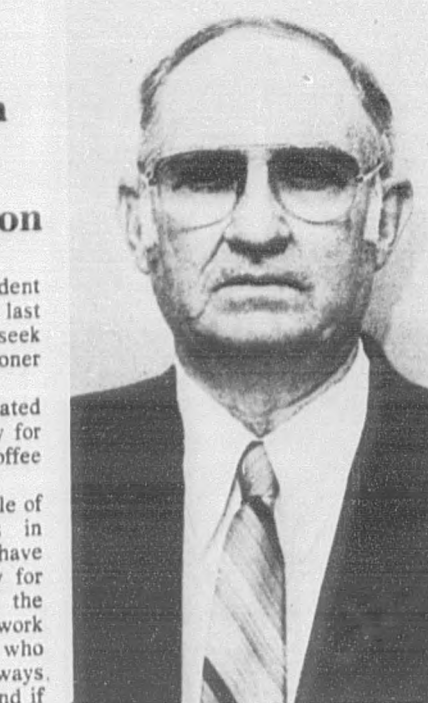

Newsome admitted to the burglary and told authorities he had sold the merchandise to an Enterprise man. The merchandise, with the exception of the frozen food, was recovered.

Newsome is being held on $3,000 bond.

Martin To Seek Re-Election To Commission From District 4

Comm. Charlie Mack Martin announced last week that he will seek re-election to the Coffee County Commission, from District 4, Seat 2.

In making the announcement, Martin stated, "I am grateful to you for the confidence you showed in me four years ago when you elected me your Commissioner. I sincerely trust that I have represented you in such a way that you are pleased with my decision. It is with a sense of pride and also with a sincere feeling of humility that I again place my name on the ballot for re-election to the office of Commissioner, District 4, Place 2. I am asking that we continue four more years of sound progress. The work and accomplishments did not, and never will, reach all of our objectives during these four years. However, we have made great strides in most all areas: county unity, paved roads, new bridges, all-weather roads, resurfaced roads, county maintenance crew, re-modeled courthouses and sound finances. We ask you to discontinue the last four years with the prior four years in these areas. I sincerely feel Coffee County has
